

A Quick Guide to the Alliance Polity course

Who is it for?

The Uniform Policy on Licensing and Certification in section E3 of the C&MA Manual requires that “All candidates for licensed ministry must provide evidence that they have successfully completed a course in Alliance Polity and distinctives as approved by Church Ministries.” The target of the course is candidates for licensing who have not graduated from an Alliance institution or who have not taken a course in Alliance Polity. This includes students enrolled in the Ministerial Study Program. It also targets those who are transferring in to the C&MA from other denominations.

What does it do?

The Alliance Polity course enables a licensed worker to provide competent pastoral leadership and care for a local C&MA congregation so that it fulfills its biblical purpose, including participation locally, regionally, and internationally in the Alliance’s global mission. The course also imparts the vision and core values of the C&MA, and familiarizes new workers with the significance and history of the C&MA to the worldwide Christian movement.

What do candidates need to take the test?

Everything needed is contained within the online course location, or accessed from links on the site, so there is no need to purchase additional textbooks or resources. A candidate will need access to a computer or mobile computing device with internet access. 95% of the course can be completed using any standard Windows or Mac-based browser with QuickTime plug-in, including on an iPhone or iPad (due to publisher’s restrictions, certain files in Module 3 are available only in Flash). A printer is helpful for some sections, but not required.

What’s in the course?

The online course has four Modules, each module having three to four Units of study. The Modules are:

- Module 1: Alliance Values
- Module 2: Doctrine & Beliefs
- Module 3: History & Strategies of Alliance Missions
- Module 4: Organization & Polity of The Alliance

In addition to other assignments, the course guides the candidate in completing the six position papers which may also be submitted for consecration/ordination.

How does it work?

The course uses a variety of instructional methods:

- video and audio segments
- articles, opinion papers, and historical documents
- focused online discussions with other candidates and their district mentor
- interactive question/answer lessons
- case studies, scenarios, and writing assignments
- assigned practical activities

How is the district involved in the course?

The district superintendent or LO&CC guides a candidate's study, and will appoint a mentor for them. The district mentor is enrolled in the course along with the candidate, and handles the grading of assignments and projects, answers questions, and provides additional insight in the C&MA. The mentor will forward the results of the required assignments to the district office and advise the superintendent/LO&CC when the candidate has successfully completed the course.

How do candidates sign up to take the course?

Ordering the course is done online through the National Office Events Registration system, with online payment through a credit card. Please use the following link to register for the course: <http://tinyurl.com/6knpaz3>

When a candidate registers and pays for the course, the candidate and their district-appointed mentor will receive (by email) a username and temporary password for the Church Ministries learning site (www.disciplesandleaders.com), where the course is located.

What is the cost?

Cost of the online course is $100.00

What help is available to the mentor in their role as advisor and evaluator?

Currently, the mentor has full access to all of the resources, assignments, lessons and course materials that the candidate uses, as well as to the discussion forums and grade-book. In Phase 2 of the course development (slated for Spring 2012), a separate, mentor-only resources section will provide lesson-by-lesson instructions, rubrics for evaluating assignments, additional guidelines for projects, and a video introduction to each module.

What other changes are planned for Phase 2?

In the second phase of development, candidates will be divided into district-specific discussion forums and grading groups. Candidates and mentors will only interact with and assess other Alliance Polity course candidates from their own district.
